THE TWO PLATFORMS.
REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.
Resolved, That we rejoice in the glorious national victory of 1868, which has brought peace, happiness and prosperity to us as a nation.
Resolved, That we wholly approve of the principles and policy of the Administration of General Grant, and we heartily endorse every sentiment contained in his inaugural address, and especially do hereby ratify and approve the late amendment proposed by Congress to the Constitution of the United States, and known as the fifteenth amendment.
Resolved, That we have confidence that the General Administration will wisely and firmly protect the interests and dignity of the nation in respect to our just claims against Great Britain, and that we endorse the action of the Senate in rejecting the Johnson-Clarendon treaty, known as the Alabama claims.
Resolved, That we heartily sympathize with the struggling peoples of all nations in their efforts to attain universal freedom and the invaluable rights of man.
Resolved, That we confidently endorse the Administration of General John W. Geary as wise, economical and honest, and that it deserves, as it has received, the approval of the people of Pennsylvania, and we especially commend his uniform efforts to restrain the evils of special legislation.
Resolved, That in Hon. Henry W. Williams, our candidate for the Supreme Court, we present a learned, pure, and patriotic jurist, who will adorn the high position to which we purpose to elect him.
Resolved, That we reiterate and affirm our adherence to the doctrine of protection, as proclaimed in the ninth resolution of the platform adopted at the State Convention of March 7, 1866.
Resolved, That we endorse the ticket this day nominated, and pledge to it our hearty and cordial support.
Resolved, That the Chairman of this convention is hereby authorized to appoint a chairman of the State Central Committee on the joint recommendation of the candidates this day nominated, and that the State Central Committee shall consist during the coming campaign of the same number of delegates from each county as the last committee, and they shall be appointed by the Senatorial and Representative districts, except Allegheny, which shall have eight members.
DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.
First. That the Federal Government is limited to the grants contained in the Federal Constitution; that the exercise of doubtful constitutional powers is dangerous to the stability of the Government and to the safety of the people; and the Democratic party will never consent that the State of Pennsylvania shall surrender her great right of local self-government.
Second. That the attempted ratification of the proposed fifteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution by the Radical members of the last Legislature, and their refusal to submit the same to a vote of the people, was a deliberate breach of their official duty, and an outrage upon every citizen of the State; and the resolution making such ratification should be promptly repealed, and the amendment submitted to the people, at the polls, for acceptance or rejection.
Third. That the Democratic party of Pennsylvania is opposed to conferring upon the negro the right to vote, and we do emphatically deny that there is any right or power in Congress or elsewhere to impose negro suffrage upon the people of this State in opposition to their will.
Fourth. That reform in the administration of the Federal and State governments in the management of their financial affairs is imperatively demanded.
Fifth. That the movements now being made for the amelioration of the laboring man have our most cordial co-operation.
Sixth. That the legislation of the late Republican Congress outside of the Constitution; the disregard of the majority therein of the will of the people and the sanctity of the ballot-box, in the exclusion from their seats of Representatives clearly elected; the establishment of military government in States in the Union, and the overthrow of all civil government therein, are acts of tyranny and usurpation that tend directly to the destruction of all republican government, and the creation of the worst forms of despotism.
Seventh. That our soldiers and sailors who carried the flag of our country to victory must be gratefully remembered, and all guarantees given in their favor most faithfully carried into execution.
Eighth. Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native-born citizens at home and abroad; the assertion of American nationality, which shall command the respect of foreign Powers, and furnish an example of encouragement to people struggling for national integrity, constitutional liberty, and individual rights.
Ninth. That the present internal revenue and taxing system of the General Government is grossly unjust, and means ought to be at once adopted to cause a modification thereof.

HARVEST HOME.

Men of sinew! hale and hearty,
Brave at scythe and sickle, come;
Come and swell our gleesome party—
Reapers! sturdy reapers, come!
Time for all things, this for leisure,
Time for all things, this for pleasure,
Sing our merry Harvest Home.

Mothers seek! home troubles leaving,
Join your husbands' joy, and come,
Honor, love, respect receiving
From the honest-hearted, come!
Nought unmeet for women's hearing,
Nought unmeet for woman's hearing
Blots our merry Harvest Home.

Maidens modest! fear no roughness,
Fathers, brothers are we; come!
Kind and true, despite our bluffness:
Maidens modest, come, then, come!
Far away be thoughts of lightness,
With your own unsullied brightness,
Maidens! bless our Harvest Home!

Aged folks! our hamlets' glory,
Dames and grandsires! all must come;
Come and tell again the story
Of the days long bygone come!
Ye who with life's ills have striven,
And to whom now rest is given
Welcome to our Harvest Home!

Laughing children! lend your rattle
To our merry-making; come!
Good to hear is childhood's prattle;
Children, merry children, come!
Ye have worked as hard as others,
Gleaning proud beside your mothers,
You must share our Harvest Home.

High and low; with one another,
Young and old! come, join us, come!
Each to each, in God, a brother,
To our village High Day come!
Well it is that harvest labors,
Richly crowned should bind all neighbors
In a thankful Harvest Home.

ONLY A CENT.

BY MARY KYLE DALLAS.

"It was only a cent, you say?"

"Yes em," said the old woman, meekly. "Only a cent. 'Tisn't the value of the money. I'd not have come for that; but when little Master Harry took it out of my till, you know, ma'am, it was a theft all the same as if it had been a dollar."

"Absurd," said Mrs. Rose. "The boy is only six years old. He's a mere baby. There's another cent. Of course I'm willing to give it to you."

"I don't want the cent," said the old woman, half crying. "What I want is to have him properly punished."

"You revengeful wretch!" said Mrs. Rose.

"'Tain't revenge," said the woman. "It's love for the child. When my Ann was a nursery-maid here I seen a heap of him, and I liked him so much, a pretty dear. Please do, ma'am, punish him and learn him not to steal. It's a mother's duty, ma'am. 'Tisn't only poor boys that turn up bad."

"This is unbearable," said Mrs Rose. "Punish that little fellow for picking up a cent. How did he know to whom it belonged. And you—a person like you—to talk to me of my duty. It is too preposterous."

"O, do hear me, ma'am," said the old woman. "'Twasn't picking up a cent. I was in my back room and saw through the curtain. He came in on tip-toe, watching and peeping, and he slipped around the counter and took the penny from the drawer. Then he knocks, and says he, when I comes,

"I want a cent's worth of lemon drops!"

"And I took it away and came to tell you; not for the value ——"

"Take your cent and go," said Mrs. Rose. "After the presents I have sent you, and kind as I was to Ann—gave her her wedding dress and a set of china, when she married—to go on so about a paltry penny. Bridget, open the door. I suppose that Mrs. Jones don't see it; I've requested her to go so often. And after this, Bridget, when I send you for trimmings, there is the new shop to go to. Quite a decent sort of person keeps it. I shall patronize her."

"It was just because of your kindness, ma'am, that I want Master Harry to be cured of being a thief," said the old woman. "'Twasn't innocent childishness. It was a sort o' a bad way as if theft was in him," said the old woman. "Can you understand?"

"I understand you are impertinent," said Mrs. Rose. "Bridget, give that woman her precious cent, and lock the door after her. Here, Harry, pet, come to mamma. When Harry wants a cent, don't ask any one but dear papa and mamma."

And the young mother kissed her darling fondly.

He was a beautiful child, but not a frank looking one, and his mischief always developed itself in secret forays on the cake box and preserve jars. To be sly was natural to him, and the servants know this, if his mother did not.

Of course, he was not punished. Indeed he seemed to himself rather a hero than a culprit, and the next opportunity which offered to help himself to that which did not belong to him, was seized upon with avidity.

He helped himself to knick knacks in friends' houses, and to toys belonging to neighbors children. If his mother forgot her purse upon her dressing table, he rifled it of change.

Generally he contrived to conceal the depredations; and when discovered, friends feared to offend the indulgent parents, and contented themselves with putting portable property out of Master Harry's reach when they had the pleasure of a visit from that small, but troublesome individual.

As for his mother, she thought the child "too cunning to scold," and only shook her head at him when ten cent pieces dropped from his jacket pockets, or his aunt's missing bracelet was found in his boot.

Had the first small sins been punished, had serious talk and reproof been administered, all might have been well; but the unhappy child, while his person was so daintly cared for and his comfort so fondly considered, he was morally as entirely left to himself as any little street beggar.

To be sure, Mrs. Rose taught him to pray; but she never explained to him what that nightly bending of the knee meant. To Harry it was a mere repetition of words.

She went to church, and would have been shocked had any one suggested that she did not know the "Ten Commandments;" but she had never taught her boy that "Thou shalt not steal," was a divine command, either theoretically or practically.

She never did. And so Harry Rose grew up a handsome boy, educated and accomplished, but with no knowledge of his own failings. The family verdict was that Harry was perfect, and he agreed in it fully; and with this opinion went with the highest recommendations into the counting house of X—— & W——.

Harry's father was not a rich man, and the boy's salary was sufficient to supply his wardrobe and furnish him with any proper recreation. But the boy had tastes which were expensive, and a disposition to dissipation. Always sly, he hid these things from his parents; but he could not manage without money. He had stolen from his parents at home; now in a position of confidence, he was enabled to rob his employers. He began with shillings and ended with a hundred dollars. There detection overtook him. The firm kindly forgave the boy, because of his youth and his parents' grief. Mr. Rose paid the money back, and Harry pretended penitence; and even now he was not reasoned with as a great sinner, but as one who had been very foolish.

"So young yet," said Mrs. Rose to her husband. "He really must have forgotten he had no right to it, and then he meant to put it back."

And soon Harry was in another situation.

The story of his crime had not been made public, and again he was trusted; and now he seemed trustworthy. Years went by, he grew to be a man and married. He was placed in the most confidential position in the house. Vast sums of money passed through his hands. He was respected, admired and beloved, not for a brief space of time, but for ten long years. Then a man of thirty, with the responsibilities of father and husband. Harry Rose was one day missing from his place of business and from his home.

That he had been foully dealt with was the first belief of all who knew of his disappearance and the excitement and sympathy was intense; but in a few days the truth was discovered.—Harry Rose was a defaulter to an immense amount. He had committed a robbery, which stood almost alone in the annals of the history of crime. And this was only the climax to a course of deceit and depredation commenced with his first sin in the establishment.

He escaped. His plans had been artfully laid, and the money was about his person.

Detectives were set upon his track in vain; and in a foreign land he lavished his ill-gotten wealth in riotous living, while his parents and his young wife suffered all the agonies of shame and grief, and his name was a disgrace to the son who had just learned to lisp it.

But successful as he had been, Providence did not forget his crime. His riches took to themselves wings. He lost large sums at gambling tables and in bad company. He became poor; and still in terror of the arm of justice, and with a mind enfeebled by dissipation, he found it impossible to retrieve his fortune. From the town where he had dwelt in luxury he wandered away almost a beggar, and in his middle life, for very want of bread, shipped as a common soldier on board a vessel which stood in need of hands.

In that vessel he found a Portuguese sailor—a wild fellow, without common prudence—who, putting a sailor's trust in every one, openly informed his mates that he had in a belt about his waist a large sum of money, which was to be given to his mother on his return home. He had great pride in the gift, and in the good opinion his family would have of him when he made it, and chatted of it frequently. Alas, the wretched man who listened, was one to whom gold is a temptation not to be resisted.

He dreamt of that leather belt which held the treasure at night and thought of it all day. At last, as they lay in an American port, the fiend's whispers grew too strong for him. He lifted his gray head from his hammock and peeped into that of the Portuguese. There lay the black curls over the bronzed brow, and the great white teeth glittered in the open mouth, and the black lashes veiled the bright eyes. He was sound asleep, and it would be so easy to unbuckle the belt; or to cut it off—that would be more quickly done. And the old man let himself out of his hammock and crept to the side of the Portuguese. He drew his knife and cut away the portion of the belt where the money jingled, and had thrust it in his breast, when the young man awoke and grappled him.

The Portuguese was young, but unarmed and bewildered by the surprise of the moment, and that sharp knife was in the hand of Harry Rose. "The money!—my mother's money—give it back!" cried the youth.

But Harry Rose could not give up the money. He lifted his knife and drove it into the poor fellow's breast and fled.

He found a boat and rowed himself to the shore, and set the boat adrift, and struck through the city streets seeking for a place to hide himself.—But those on the ship had been alarmed. They found the Portuguese dead in his hammock, with his belt, his precious belt, of which he had talked so much, cut away, and the strange sailor missing. He was pursued and captured, with the money about him, and blood stains on his clothes.

And in the city where he was born, and where yet his old mother dwelt, he met the fate of the murderer. And before he died he made full confession of all his crimes.

There are people who go to see men hung. Those who gratified that horrible curiosity that day, heard the gray haired man upon the gallows, speak these words:

"I am about to die, and I die justly; but if there is a parent here I want to tell that parent that my father and mother who loved me so might have saved me from this awful and shameful end. I had the propensity to crime stronger than the rest, but I might have been cured.

"I began by stealing a cent from an old woman's toy shop till. If I had been punished then I believe I should not have stolen again; but it was made light of, and I went on, and here I am. But with my last breath I want to ask you to watch your children, and no matter how slight a crime seems in one of them, to weed it out with all your strength, that it may not bring them to my end at last."

And then the black cap was put on, and Harry Rose looked on the world no more.

And his is not the only instance which warns us from what small beginnings great crimes spring. The theft of only a cent may end in burglary or highway robbery; the lisper of a white lie may come to forget truth and honor utterly; and the little fist ready with baby blows, grown large and strong in manhood, may commit murder.

Weed your children's hearts even as you would your garden beds, or rank things will grow there apace and choke the flowers.

Her corsets (therefore her waist) is worth from seventy-five cents to thirty dollars.

Her hips are rounded at a price from one dollar to six dollars and fifty cents.

Her delicious limbs, when in the shape of false calves, cost from eight dollars and upward.

The total beauty therefore costs herself, or rather some man of the period, from about eighty-five to five hundred and fifty and upward, per occasion just for her personal charms, entirely independent of her dry goods and love of bonnets.

PERFECTLY SATISFACTORY.—A recently married young man in Cincinnati got intoxicated at a wine party, and in that state went home to his wife. As soon as he appeared she leaped from the sofa on which she had been reclining, and, throwing her alabaster arms around his neck, inquired:

"Are you ill, dearest? What ails you? You do not seem yourself."

"Well," said he, "fa—la—truth is that—that—I went to set—set up with a si—si—sick brother belonging to our l—lodge, you see, my dove, and the li—light went out—and instead of giving him the brandy, as—as the doctor prescribed—I must have, ma—made a mistake in the da—dark, and taken the liquor myself, whi—which I should ha—have handed my friend—you see, my dear."

This explanation was perfectly satisfactory—especially to the husband.

Saratoga Seen with the Naked Eye,

[IT BEING A WOMAN'S.]

A lady correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Saratoga, thus sketches "watering-place life."—She writes like a sensible woman:

What do people talk about in Saratoga? First, horses, then betting, then suppers, dinners, &c.; then women. It may be a good place for match-making, but I doubt it. I doubt it for the reason that there are so few eligible men here, and those few are so exceedingly averse to matrimony. What the young women do I am at a loss to imagine. I should think, however, that they would enter for the "Consolation Stakes." To get up a wardrobe, array yourself in three dresses per day, pay a large hotel bill, and then not kill your game, must be the worst possible investment. It was only the other day a mother complained, in accents not unlike those of that lone, lone creetur, Mrs. Gummidge, what a terrible trial Saratoga was to her. She had brought her two daughters here for three seasons, and they were still on her hands. Ay, madam, and they will remain there. The men who seek wives at Saratoga are fortune-hunters. Go home and set your daughters to honest work, and then perhaps they will find honest husbands.

But the butterflies flap their wings, and dance, and flit, in spite of the odds against them. A butterfly in one balance and a horse in the other! The clothes I have seen during the past week are the most wonderful panorama I ever beheld. For "loudness" and startling effects I do not believe they can be equaled except by the wardrobe of Niblo's Garden. Indeed so many of the women resemble the supernumeraries of the Black Crook and White Fawn, that I sometimes think I must be seated in the parquette of the theatre. There are the blondes, "the Girls of the Period," as they are called here, with just such heads as lorgnettes have been-pointed at for so long a time, with just such decolletees dresses. If the skirts are not as short as the waists, it is owing to a wretched conventionality that still draws the line somewhere. There are the ladies who enamel and they have husbands! What must those men be made of? And these women dress, and then dress, and then dress! For what? To attract the attention of vulgar men who study them as they would prize animals, and use no refined language in discussing their points. It is most horrible, and I do not see how any woman of modesty or sensibility can be willing to subject herself to such coarse scrutiny. For a woman to dress to gratify those who know and appreciate her, is not only a pleasure but a duty. To put herself on exhibition for the benefit of the general public is such a lowering of womanhood as no one who respects the sex ever cares to see.

If women had common sense, there would be comparatively little display. In the first place, no one is of consequence in great crowds, unless she chooses to make herself conspicuous. In the second place, no woman can enjoy any comfort outside of the hotel unless she wears a short dress, and at Saratoga any but the stoutest walking dresses will quickly be ruined by the dust. Therefore, to appear in expensive toilets, women must forego every form of exercise but that of driving.—This, too, in summer—the season for out-door life. And after all, what is gained by this extravagance? Men do not make such fools of themselves. Nothing can be prettier than the present style of short dresses, a few of which would be all sufficient for the ordinary hotel life. A pretty face is pretty, and an ugly face is ugly, no matter what the clothes may be. A good-fitting gown, a tastefully dressed head, a decent boot and glove, are the important features of a woman's toilet, and any one who possesses these requisites will be a beauty if she is a beauty, and will assuredly be a lady if she is fortunate enough to have been born and bred so. To try to be one or the other is the wretched comedy that is daily played at Saratoga, to the satisfaction of no one and the disgust of many. Alack and alas!

There is the young lady who sings in the public parlor; there is the young gentleman who plays waltzes on the piano to admiring young ladies; there is music by the band; there are hops; there is flirtation unlimited and playing with fire, but it is all play. Nobody is injured but those who bet heavy amounts and play with the tiger. Vauxhaull's failure to-day has spread gloom over the town. Said a shopkeeper, "Vauxhaull's defeat will make a great difference in trade. All my customers have lost, and I shall leave town to-morrow!" Such is life here! Everybody is grasping for money.—Even the dipping boys at the Springs look to visitors for their pittance, instead of being paid a regular salary by the hotel keepers. Every stranger is an orange to be squeezed dry. Let those who like this heroic treatment try it. Like the desperate shop-keeper, I shall leave Saratoga in the first train to-morrow morning.

The end of it all is this. If you are a man, you despise women; and if you are a woman, you despise men. The lesson, therefore, is bad, and the sooner you find an antidote the better.

LEWIS & LINDSAY.

☞"Carpet baggers" are not obnoxious at the South unless they are Republicans; then they are.

☞Judge Packer spent the war summers among the rebel sympathizers in Europe—Geary among the rebels in the South.

☞Hon. Galusha A. Grow is favorably spoken of as a candidate for the Legislature. His district would find him an able and honest representative.

☞Will the editor of the Monitor refer to his Bible or Shorter Catechism, if he has any, turn to the Ninth Commandment and read it over carefully?

☞The Miners' Journal says truly that Asa Packer will be chiefly remembered after October next as the last Democrat who ever tried to be Governor of Pennsylvania.

☞An unfeeling wretch asks: Who is Pershing? Another chap, who isn't noted for being very smart replies: The Democratic party with the "i" knocked out.

☞Packer and $20,000,000; $20,000,000 and Packer, which means Bill McMullin, Sam. Randall, Mutchler, (not the bitters man) Bill McGrath, "Piggy" Devine, et. al. "Ror!"

☞We are reliably informed that where Mr. Packer is best known he is least liked. If any one doubts it, go to Mauch Chunk, where he refuses to pay his taxes and learn for yourselves. Such is our information.

☞Will not some other member of the "noble band" consult the Scriptures for another revelation showing that Asa Packer is to be the next Governor of Pennsylvania? Oh, ye sacrilegious!

☞The Tribune thinks that if the New York Courts have not yet been able to make the very name of Judge stink in the nostrils of the people, it has not been for the want of well directed and continuous exertions.

☞The probabilities are that Ex-President Johnson will be sent to the U. S. Senate from Tennessee. There is very little probability, however, that he will be sent to the head of the nation again.

☞Gov. Geary, through the Hon. John Covode, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, has requested Attorney General Benjamin Harris Brewster to resign. Mr. Brewster politely refuses to any such thing.

☞"Brick" Pomeroy's candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania is expected to give every man that votes for him a five dollar gold piece, it being well known that he does not keep greenbacks on hand, as he has no faith in the government.

☞Ex-U. S. Senator Charles R. Buckalew wants to go to the State Senate this winter, to skin Bill (alias Coffee Pot) Wallace for not allowing the 14th of July Convention at Harrisburg to endorse his (Buckalew's) course in Congress. Charley promises to make it interesting, if he gets into the Senate.

☞Like Packer, Geo. H. Pendleton, was a candidate for the Presidency one year ago, but now we find him, as we do Packer, an "humble" candidate for the Governorship of a single State. Next fall we expect to hear of both of them being candidates for Alderman of the villages in which they live.

☞We have received a card signed "many voters," announcing SAMUEL J. CLOYD, of Orbisonia, as a volunteer or independent candidate for election to the office of Treasurer of Huntingdon county. Samuel J. Cloyd was a candidate for the same office before the late Republican Convention assembled, but he was a candidate then subject to to the decision of that Convention A majority in that Convention gave the nomination to another gentleman, and that Convention did right, for no man, soldier or civilian, claiming to be a party man, who will lend himself to disorganize his party in the face of a desperate enemy, is worthy a party nomination or the support of party men. If Mr. Cloyd had received the nomination he would have received our earnest support, but he is not the nominee, and has no claims upon the party organization or the party press for any support in his efforts to disorganize the party. Individual Republicans who have not the success of their party at heart, are free to act as they please, but no disorganizer need expect to receive any political favors from us. We go the ticket from the top to the bottom, and shall not admit into the columns of the Globe anything calculated to injure in the least the prospects of success of any one of the candidates the Republican party has put in nomination.

☞President Grant is now taking a tour. Of this tour the Democrats have much to say, and although they can discover nothing in the President's speeches, they would make a great deal out of his actions. President Grant has his own way of doing things, and it is not expected that the Democrats will like it. While he is enjoying a vacation during the hot season, the affairs of government are being administered by his efficient Cabinet in a praiseworthy manner, and the President's policy in economy and the execution of the laws is being rigidly enforced.

During the war Grant was never absent from his post, for his business was then among his officers and men, and he moved amongst them, from the highest to the lowest, and often would he go in person and superintend the execution of some active aggressive campaign. President Grant's field today is not at Washington merely, but if possible in every city, town and hamlet in the Union, and he is moving among men of business, and of industry, and learning the civil problem of the country. Wait and see what is to come of this tour before you give yourselves up to despondency and cavil.

Our County Ticket.

We hear considerable growling, (as is most generally the case after a nominating Convention gets through with its labors and adjourns,) on the highways and secret corners against the action of the late Republican County Convention. Previous to the meeting of the Convention we pledged our support to any ticket that might be nominated. A full ticket was nominated—nominated after a warm contest in every district in the county—nominated about as all other tickets in former years were nominated—and we intend to support and defend it against any and all opposition inside or outside of the Republican organization. The ticket can and must be elected, and with it General Geary must have a majority of not less than one thousand in the county.

DON PRATT says: "Let me tell you in a sentence what I think of the Democratic party. It is the organized ignorance of the land, animated by low prejudices and vicious passions; and while I would shrink from asserting that all Democrats are rascals, I will say without fear of successful contradiction, that all rascals are Democrats. In analyzing the rings I found operating in Washington last winter, I discovered that two-thirds of their members belonged to that old organization that claimed to have been born under Jefferson, fought under Jackson and suffered death under the venerable Buchanan. Whether it will rise again at any subsequent period is for the people to say."

☞Asa Packer took up his residence at the Merchants' Hotel, Philadelphia, to get rid of paying his taxes in Carbon county. Having acquired a large fortune he was unwilling to pay his taxes like other persons. He therefore fled to Philadelphia, where, it is alleged, rich men have a way of shifting upon others their taxes; at any rate, where the policy is, to tax capital lightly. This circumstance shows how much Packer has done and is willing to do to help sustain the government under which he has made his millions, and it also shows how incompetent he is to be Governor of such a loyal State as Pennsylvania.

☞A reporter for the Chicago Tribune has been on a voyage of exploration up Chicago River, which, he writes to that paper, has disclosed the presence of 1,607 well defined and separate bad smells. These odors were caused by distilleries, dead dogs, the corpses of cats, tanneries, poisoned fish, malt from the breweries, the refuse of slaughter-houses, and contributions from the sewers. And if he had not been a very careless and stupid reporter he would also have recorded the finding of the dead and rotten carcass of the Democratic party, from which arose the worst smell of all.

ILLUSTRATIONS WANTED.—The Editor of the West Chester Republican says that he is prepared to pay liberal prices for accurate and carefully prepared designs of ASA PACKER, the Democratic candidate for Governor, as he appeared in public under the following thrilling circumstances.

Illustration No. 1.—ASA PACKER, the Democratic Candidate for Governor, as he appeared previous to being immersed in the Lehigh River, by indignant boatmen, whom he wished to compel to work at starvation prices, that he might accumulate a fortune of $20,000,000! The boatmen should also be faithfully represented, as they appeared upon that memorable occasion!

Illustration No. 2.—ASA PACKER, the Democratic candidate for Governor, as he appeared when entering the turbulent waters, together with the positions of the several individuals standing on the bank, witnessing as well as assisting him to perform the fearful feat!

Illustration No. 3.—ASA PACKER, the Democratic candidate for Governor, as he arose from beneath the waters, and what he did there!

Illustration No. 4.—ASA PACKER, the Democratic candidate for Governor, as he re-appeared on the banks of the stream in the midst of his affectionate admirers!

The precise remarks made use of by Asa in the four several acts of the Drama, together with those of his assistants in the aquatic feat, should accompany each illustration. Competitors will forward their productions with all possible dispatch, as we are anxious to place them in the hands of the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, as forming a series of remarkable soul-stirring and patriotic incidents in the life of their candidate, and at the same time furnishing the most substantial reasons why he should be elected Governor of the State!

P. S.—Should the above designs prove satisfactory, we shall need others representing Asa's singular removal from Carbon County to Philadelphia, to avoid payment of taxes!

The County Committee.

"On motion, the delegates to the Convention were authorized to name the members of the County Committee."

We intend to respect the action of the Convention, as well in the nomination of the County Committee as in the nomination of the County Ticket. We might as well ignore the ticket nominated by the delegates as to ignore any part of the Committee appointed by the Committee. The Committee handed to us for publication is not the one, as a whole, named by the delegates. The Chairman of the Committee, Mr. M. M. Logan, was not authorized by the Convention to appoint the Committee or any part of it, and his refusal to place upon the Committee names given him by delegates, places him in an unpleasant position with his party—a party and an organization that honored him with an election to the office he now occupies. We do not intend to recognize Mr. Logan's Committee as the Committee authorized to be appointed by the Convention. If Mr. Logan intends to act in opposition to the powers that made him he should act an honorable part and at once resign, and the Convention should then re-assemble and elect a Chairman who would obey its instructions. We intend to fight guerillaism wherever it may show its head.

☞Will any one give us an intelligent reason why Asa Packer should be elected Governor of this Commonwealth. We are in earnest, for we would like to know. The only service he ever rendered the Democratic party was, his opposition to the war and his refusal to pay his taxes. These are notorious facts, and should be remembered by voters on election day. The only talent he possesses is that of making money—but he has been very careful not to invest in Government bonds. Oh, no, he hasn't faith enough in the stability of the Government to do that; he prefers coal mines, railroads and railroad stocks.

☞A project is on foot for the erection of a monument at Annapolis, Maryland, in commemoration of the officers and seamen of the navy who fell during the late war. It will be thirty-six feet high and very elaborate. The sculptor is F. Simmons, Esq., who proposes to complete it in Rome of Italian marble, and deliver it in this country for $20,000, gold. An association has been formed, of which Admiral Porter is the President. He now holds $14,000, which has been contributed to the funds entirely by the officers and sailors of the navy, and officers and men of the marine corps.

☞Asa Packer, no doubt, did tell his men that their pay would go on if they would help to drive the rebels from the State; but we know older and feebler men, who had not so much to lose as Packer, who shouldered the musket and marched on foot to meet the foe. Mr. Packer was loyal enough when self-interest demanded a sacrifice of a few pence a day in order to save the bulk of his large possessions. Who wouldn't be a patriot to save his bacon?

☞A "prominent and influential citizen," writing in the last Journal & American, calls upon Republicans to form a new party with Democrats. He, the "prominent and influential citizen" must feel very much disappointed. We hope he will make himself known to Republicans so that his prominence and influence can be felt. His withdrawal from the Republican party might defeat the ticket. Who is "Vigilance"? We'll bet a box of peaches he is better at striking a man in the dark than he is at playing politically honest.

☞A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, writing from Bethlehem, Pa., says: "From what I can learn from those with whom I have conversed, Asa Packer is not so universally worshipped by the people of this section as some of the Democratic papers would have us believe, but quite the reverse." The more light that is thrown upon the "life and services" of Mr. Packer, the more damaging it becomes. Poor rich Mr. Packer.

☞Where does Asa Packer live?—When he is taxed in Mauch Chunk he swears he lives in Philadelphia, and when he is taxed in Philadelphia he swears he lives in Mauch Chunk. Now, will some good Democratic mathematician cypher out for us, just to satisfy our curiosity, where Mr. Packer does really live. He may claim Connecticut or the Fee Jee Islands as his home, for all we know.

☞We are sorry to announce to our readers that the Journal & American, claiming to be the "organ" of the Republican party of this county, has thrown open its columns for the use of disappointed persons who desire to defeat a portion of the Republican ticket. We hope it will discover its mistake, and hereafter submit to the will of the majority. Guerrillaism is unpopular and unprofitable.

THE PRATT CASE.—The case of Pratt, the alleged Texas rioter, was before Commissioner Osborne, at New York, on the 16th inst. The Commissioner stated that he had examined the case on its merits, and there was not sufficient evidence to hold the prisoner, and Pratt was thereupon ordered to be discharged.

☞The Democrats are very ready now to heap laudations on a Connecticut native as Governor of this State, but they bellowed lustily last year against a Republican Yankee candidate for Supreme Judge. O, consistency, thou art a jewel, but thy votaries are few in the Democratic ranks.

☞The exploring party engaged in examining the route of the Northern Pacific Railroad, send the welcome intelligence that the character of the road traversed far exceeds their anticipations. The practicability of the projected new enterprise is now fully demonstrated.

☞The Harrisburg correspondent of the Altoona Radical says that there is a good deal of a stir among the politicians over the United States Judges and officers to be appointed under the new law. He says that Judge Taylor is strongly pressed for an appointment from this State, with much show of success.

WATER PANIC IN PHILADELPHIA.—The city of Philadelphia is just now suffering a water panic owing to the scarcity of water in the Fairmount Reservoir. The water in the Schuylkill is lower now than was ever before known, and the Fairmount Works have been rendered thereby entirely useless.

☞Fifteen millions of dollars, ten millions of which have already been paid to the proper officers of the Interior Department, will be taken from the Treasury this month for the payment of army and navy pensions. This extraordinary outlay will probably result in a slight increase of the public debt, as exhibited.

Partial returns to the Revenue Office for the year ending June 30, show that the following amount of taxes have been collected, including liquor licences: Distilled spirits, all sources, $43,800,000; tobacco, $22,200,000; fermented liquors, $5,600,000; income, individuals, $23,100,000; internal revenue stamps, $15,505,000. Seventy-seven districts are yet to be heard from.

Persons who have arrived from Virginia give distressing accounts of the effects from the long drought in that State, and assert that unless they have rain soon the corn and tobacco crops will certainly be thoroughly destroyed. Letters from Georgia also represent that apprehensions of great danger to the cotton crop are felt in the State because of the long dry season.

A well known Virginian lady came to Baltimore some weeks ago to have a tumor removed. Her physician, after removing the tumor, ordered gentle doses of quinine. By mistake of the apothecary, she was given morphine, and soon died. The case was hushed up, but now will be legally investigated.

There are at present eight Methodist camp meetings in progress within a circuit of twenty miles around Washington. Their influence is not perceptible within the city limits.

On Thursday, August 26, Governor Geary will lay the corner stone of the new State Lunatic Asylum at Danville.

In some parts of Texas corn is so abundant that farmers cannot get rid of it at twenty five cents a bushel.

Political Powder-Flask.

Ten cents make one dime, ten dimes make one dollar, ten dollars make one eagle, ten thousand eagles make one Democratic nomination.

The Democracy are wasting their strength in vain. A forty-million horse power can't drag the dead weight of Packer successful by through the campaign.

An exchange says "that the latest specimen of Packerism, was the packing of the Harrisburg convention."—The 'boss' packer on that occasion was Alderman McMullin.

Consistency is a jewel unknown to modern Democracy. They denounce Grant because he wont make public speeches, and nominate a man that cant, however great his desire.

A pill for Packer—the seventh plank of his platform, which declares that the Democracy should "gratefully remember" the soldiers. How can he swallow it and try to beat a soldier candidate?

Radical papers call the Democratic nominee for Supreme Judge Perishing. But the laugh comes out of the wrong side of their mouths.—Bellefonte Watchman.

Somebody says, "to tell the truth, Pershing ought to have one i more."

Traugh, where and when, in the name of all that is pure and virtuous, did Pershing ever come in contact with you?

It is estimated that over 200,000 bushels of last year's wheat crop still remain in the hands of growers in one county in Iowa.

GRAND CORN DANCE AND BASKET PIC-NIC,

BY

ARRAPAHOE TRIBE, I. O. of R. M., at COTTAGE GROVE, HUNTINGDON,

ON SATURDAY, THE 11TH DAY OF SEPTEMBER.

It is the intention of the Committee to spare no pains to render this a first class entertainment. A suitable stage will be erected where the lovers of the Terpsichorean art can "trip the light fantastic toe" to the strains of delightful music.

Refreshments will be on the ground and served to visitors at a trifling cost.

The public are cordially invited to attend. A procession will leave the Wigwam at 9 o'clock, a. m., and proceed to the grove in full regalia.

BAUGH'S

RAW BONE

SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

TRADE MARK

STANDARD WARRANTED.

We offer to Farmers, the present fall season, BAUGH'S RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME as being highly improved.

Baugh's Raw Bone Super Phosphate is, as its name indicates, prepared by dissolving Raw Bones in Oil of Vitriol—that is, bones that have not been deprived of their organic matter—the grease and glue—by burning or baking. It, therefore, presents to the use of the farmer all the valuable properties of Raw Bones in a highly concentrated form—rendering it at once quick in action and very permanent.

☞Farmers are recommended to purchase of the dealer located in their neighborhood. In sections where no dealer is yet established, the PHOSPHATE may be procured directly from the undersigned.

CELEBRATED

PERFECTED SPECTACLES AND EYE GLASSES.

The large and increasing sales of these

SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their usefulness. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our CELEBRATED PERFECTED SPECTACLES by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

The Altoona Park Association is to hold a fair at that place on the 28th, 29th and 30th of September, and 1st day of October. The premiums amount to $2750, and among the attractions will be horse-racing, parade of the fire department and a velocipede race.

The Gilfort Brothers performed on the trapeze in the Diamond on Thursday evening last. Judging from the manner the performance progressed, they would not make good harvest hands, although their proportions did show off to advantage.

A son of Germany recently came home to his family in a rather how-come-you-so condition, when his dearly-beloved berated him in a manner eminently fitting an offended woman, and told him he could just run off from her whenever he had a mind to. His Teutonic majesty, recalling the days of yore, when love held sway, blandly replied: "I will, my dear, if you go 'long."

The Altoona papers should, by this time, we think, have seen the folly of allowing their columns to be used by one person to villify another. The "letters from the people" could be good things, but when they are nothing but a repetition of personalities, they bring the journal into disrepute, and the moral standing of the community is very materially lowered thereby.

There are but forty-five persons living in Chambersburg, who were born there sixty years ago, and of those born there fifty years ago only sixty remain. Huntingdon could furnish a better record than that, but unfortunately the law for publishing marriages and births is a dead letter, and we fear to offend by giving facts from the "oldest inhabitant," as too many compete for that honor.

The Altoona Tribune furnishes our citizens the following advice, gratis, we presume:—"Huntingdon will be left out in the cold unless her people hurry up a Town Hall. By the first of October there will be a line of excellent balls from Pittsburgh to Harrisburg, by way of Bellefonte, Lock Haven and Williamsport, and all entertainments will leave, or strike the Pennsylvania railroad, at Tyrone, unless the people down the river erect halls to accommodate them."

Murder on Broad Top.

A most cowardly and cold blooded murder was committed on Broad Top near Dudley on Saturday evening the 21st inst., between nine and ten o'clock. Patrick Mackey, a miner, working in the coal mine of D. Blair, on his way home Saturday night from Dudley to Barnetstown was waylaid and murdered near the Barnet Bank; he was struck across the back of the neck and across the forehead with a piece of flat bar-iron, breaking the skull and injuring the spine. He lingered unconscious for several hours and died Sunday morning. Several parties are under arrest for the commission of the offence, and warrants are out for others. We understand that Mr. Mackey the man who is thus brutally murdered was a peaceable, industrious and inoffensive young man. He leaves a brother and two sisters to mourn his untimely end. It appears from what we can learn, that there is a Miners Union League or Society on Broad Top which undertakes to regulate the price of mining coal and other work in and about the different coal mines; and on account of one or two men, members of this League, not getting the work and the wages they wanted, no work was permitted by this League to be done at the Blair mine for the first ten days of this month. A new set of men, of whom Mackey the murdered man was one, started the mine and were denounced as "black sheep" by the members of this Union. This difficulty no doubt led to the murder of poor Mackey. But as the whole matter will undergo a thorough legal investigation we forbear to say anything more at present.

Suicide.

On Tuesday night of last week Mrs. Caroline E. Spaulding, wife of Wm. Spaulding, formerly of this place, but lately of Bridgeport, Huntingdon county, committed suicide by hanging herself with a clothes line to the grape-arbor in H. M. Pratt's yard in this place. She was found hanging and dead by Mr. Pratt about 10 o'clock. Coroner Miller was apprised of the fact, and held an inquest, the jury rendering a verdict of death from suicide. Mrs. Spaulding was 37 years of age, and had been married a number of years, but left no children. For five years past her health had been very poor, and she became subject to frequent fits of melancholy. These seemed to be aggravated by the religious revivals or excitements of last winter, since which time she has repeatedly expressed the wish that she were dead. In consequence apprehensions had been entertained for some time by her friends that she might some day attempt to destroy herself, and her movements were therefore generally watched. Her maiden name was Taylor, and she was originally from Cornwall, Conn. She was a cousin of Mr. Pratt, and was on a visit to his family at the time of this sad occurrence. Her remains were interred in the Presbyterian cemetery.—Lewistown Democrat.

☞On Wednesday last, a party hunting berries on the Cross Mountain, South of the Little Cove, found the remains of a child, which upon examination proved to be those of the little daughter of James Strealy who was lost in the Cove Mountain about three months ago. It seems that after becoming separated from her companions, the little creature wandered off four or five miles among the mountains, and then perished from hunger. At the spot where she was found, a quantity of moss had been collected which she had arranged in the form of a playhouse, against or under a ledge of rocks. The remains of the child were identified by means of the hair and vestiges of clothing which were strewn around. The remains were brought back to the home of her parents, where they were interred, the community manifesting deep sorrow and sympathy with the afflicted parents. The spot where they were found is not more than two miles from the residence of Solomon Helser, Esq., who is well known to the people of this town.—Franklin Repository.

☞We are glad to learn that our enterprising men, Messrs. W. H. Rosensteel & Son, who have been so successful in their business at Mapleton station, have leased the large and extensive Tannery recently built by Jno Bare, of Mount Union. The Tannery is built on the most appropriate plan having introduced in it all the modern improvements. Among the most important is the Allen & Warren system of leaching bark. The Tannery has a capacity for thirty thousand sides of heavy hoes and belt leather, equal to six hundred and fifty thousand pounds of leather, and will consume annually at least twenty-five hundred cords of bark. We have no doubt from what we learn of this firm, with their combined skill and energy, and the already established and enviable reputation for the stock, they will meet with like success in their new place of business. See their advertisement in another column. 1t

Martin S. Miller vs. Louis Smawley, R. Bruce Petriken and Joseph Lammay. Action—summons in debt.—Verdict in favor of Plff. for $125.50.

John McCombe vs. Allen H. Bowman. Action—ejectment. This was an appeal from an award of arbitrators. The plaintiff took a non-suit.

Levi R. Chaplain, convicted of aggravated assault, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5,00, and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for five months.

The Altoona Tribune commenting on the sale of the Bellefonte National newspaper office by the Sheriff, says: "Our motto is 'Live and let live,' and when we cannot get living prices for executing job-work, in the printing line, we will quit the business and go at something else." "Them's" our sentiments to a T, and we will add that they who expect printers to work for nothing or wait for their pay, fall *far short of showing a liberal, homo*patronizing spirit.

The Newspaper Cash System.

The Wisconsin editors have been holding a convention at which the proposition was broached for establishing a general newspaper system out there of cash payments. Why not everywhere? It is the only proper way. Most of our country newspapers live half-starved on the credit system when they might get fat and saucy on the cash system. Our war correspondence for instance, during the late rebellion, cost over half a million in cash. We could afford it with our cash system; but where would we have been under the old stupid credit system? Nowhere. Of all things in the world newspapers call for the cash system, and it is always best for buyer and seller. "Mr. Speaker," once said John Randolph, "I have found the philosopher's stone. It is pay at you go, sir, and be paid as you go."—N. Y. Herald.

Exactly so. But not only printers, but every class of society would be benefitted by a strictly cash system. There is nothing to prevent it, but a fear of losing, which is only imaginary. People must live, and just so long as money circulates, somebody must get it—then why not pay as you go. It is much easier to do this than to wait and let the sum accumulate to frightful proportions, when the possibility of paying that thou owest is infinitely more uncertain and distasteful. We are pained to hear of the complaints of men in every position about the tightness of money. Each man's plea is, that man owes me and I owe you; when he pays me I will pay you. There are too many drawbacks in the world, who, like the miser, scrape up the dollars and cents, cheat their creditors, and thus make themselves richer and the poor poorer. The cure of this great evil is in the cash system, and, no matter if some do think it impracticable, we are of the opinion that the sooner all business men adopt it the better for society and for the country.

Chicken Cholera.

A correspondent, writing to the Iowa Department of Agriculture, says:

My chickens have been dying of cholera for the last two years—even turkeys have died of the same disease. When the hens begin to droop and look sleepy, give them three or four tablespoonfuls of strong alum water, and repeat the next day. Also mix their feed (say Indian meal) with strong alum water, feeding twice a day for two or three days—afterward once a week.

Another gentleman, writing to the same department says:

Take two eggs, one tablespoonful of finely pulverized alum, and a sufficient quantity of flour to make a thin paste, and force the chicken or turkey to swallow a portion of the mixture, and there are two chances to one that it will recover. I have also used alum, once a day, in their food as a preventive, when this disease is provalent. Fowls should never have access to swill tubs or any other kind of sour food.

☞The Phrenological Journal for September contains the portraits and biographies of John Rogers, the designer and modeler of the well known "Rogers' Groups;" Jos. A. Road Law.—We have received from George F. Worrall, bookseller, West Chester, Pa, a copy of the General and Special Pennsylvania Road Law, a book just issued by Col. F. C. Hooton, District Attorney of Chester County. The book gives a short statement of the method of obtaining a new road. It gives the power and authority of Road Jurors; the duties of Supervisors under the General and Special Laws, and the duties of Road Contractors. Every Supervisor, Justice of the Peace, Road Contractor and Surveyor, should have a copy. Every man accustomed to serve upon Road Juries, and every man interested in knowing just what the law of the road is, should have a copy. A copy of the book sent to any address on receipt of fifty four cents.

The American Stock Journal.—All kinds of Stock-keeping, Farm and Dairy matters are treated of in a clear and popular style in this Journal. Its articles are all timely and full of interest and should be read by all having the care of Farm Stock of any kind. The recipes it contains for the cure of sick, injured or diseased Animals are worth a hundred-fold its cost. Specimen copies sent free. Address, N. P. Reader, Think of It.

An exchange aptly and truthfully says of local papers, that they enhance the value of property; that they benefit particularly merchants and real estate owners thrice the amount yearly they pay for the support. There is nothing that would do a place more harm than to be without a newspaper. This every sensible man knows. A local newspaper then, is a necessity. It is a sacred duty to support it. You need not think that the publisher of a paper can run it for your benefit and pay expenses out of his own pocket. Give your home paper good advertising patronage, and a respectable list, and you will then have just such a paper as you wish.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Messrs Editors:—Apropos of the subject upon which I am writing, I see in a western paper an account of a speech delivered by Hon. John Sherman, at Canton, Ohio, on the 14th inst. In his remarks, he referred to the prosperity of that town, which a few years ago had the reputation of being a sleepy-going town. It, like Huntingdon, was not improving, and there was but little employment, except that given in a few stores and shops, while there was the usual number of non-producers, lawyers, doctors and preachers. Now, the population of Canton is doubled, and property values trebled. Every industrious man who wishes employment can have it. Its workshops now produce annually more than a million dollars worth of machinery, the raw material for which is found mainly in neighboring soil. Mr. Sherman asks: "What is the cause of this change? It is in the diversity of employment, and the diversion of labor. No nation can be great without this. We must develope agriculture, mechanics and commerce. When liberty and property are secure then the great object of civil law is to develop industry. The diversity of its industry is the gauge of its prosperity. The mechanic and the farmer should each produce what the other wants, and the exchange of these products should take place near to each other. Then the surplus products of both goes off into the market in its more valuable form. You may attribute your prosperity to the fact that your county is underlaid with coal and iron. This is indeed of greater value than your surface soil. But it is of equal value to your neighbors, for the cost of transportation has been so greatly cheapened by railroads that your coal and iron is as valuable to other places as to you."

We have repeatedly commended the energy in western towns, but as it is in Canton, so it can be in Huntingdon. No town will prosper so long as it does not seek to improve its own resources, and draw from its own material in the manufacture of its own implements. As Mr. Sherman says of a town: "The diversity of its industry is the gauge of its prosperity," and that sentiment should be the motto of the people of every town. One branch of industry alone should not be cultivated, as that would cause such competition that there would be a ruin in prices; but in diversity there would be mutuality, and each branch would assist the other in developing the greatest proportion of our resources. In how short a time would Huntingdon rival the most enterprising of towns if the works of art were only more extensively introduced and diversified in our midst; but it cannot be done unless steps are taken to promote such a desirable result, and a full and hearty co-operation is extended by every citizen.

Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting of Mount Hope Lodge, No. 209, I. O. of G. T., at Petersburg, July 31st, 1869, the following resolutions were adopted:

How oft we are called to realize the solemn truth that we are mortal—that in the midst of life we are upon the verge of the grave, and that our time upon earth is but as a moment when compared with the vast eternity before us. The grim monster Death has taken from our midst one of the leading spirits of our beloved Order; he who of all others showed both by precept and example that he was in earnest in the Temperance work. In his Christian life he has left us an example worthy of imitation. He has left us; but we mourn not as those without hope. He died as he lived, in the enjoyment of a good hope of immortal bliss. It was our privilege to visit our brother during his last illness, when he told us that his work was done, and that he was resigned to the will of his Heavenly Father. To-night he sleeps his last sleep.—We miss him from our councils. No more shall his stately form be seen among us; no more his wise counsel guide us; no more his kindly greeting meet us; but our loss is his gain, and we feel that we can say, "Thy will be done."

In view of the above, your committee would offer the following:

Resolved, That in the death of our brother Jos. M. Stevens, this Lodge has lost one of its brightest ornaments, and one of its most useful members.

Resolved, That in the death of our brother we are again admonished of the uncertainty of life, and of the importance of being prepared for death, so that, like him, when called away from earth we may have on the wedding garment.

Resolved, That to the mother and relatives of the deceased, we tender our warmest sympathies, feeling that their loss is irreparable, yet rejoicing to know that he has gone to a clime where

"Sickness, sorrow, pain and death
Are felt and feared no more."

Resolved, That as a token of respect to the memory of our departed brother, the charter of the Lodge be draped in mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of the above resolutions be transmitted to the mother of the deceased, and that they be published in the county papers and in the Temperance Vindicator.

☞And when Abraham and the people beheld the wonderful cures which were produced by this drink, Abraham said: "My children must not suffer; give me thy drink to drink, and I will give it a name."

And so Abraham drank, and said there was nothing like it, even in Sangamon county; that it was bitter to the lips, but good for the stomach; and because there were bitter times in fighting the masters of the plantations, it shall be forevermore called Plantation Bitters; and so it has been.

And the wonderful work which it has performed is witnessed at this day in every town, parish, village and hamlet throughout all the world.

And he said, "Let it be proclaimed throughout the length and breadth of the land from the valleys and mountain-tops, that all who suffer from fevers, dyspepsia, weakness, loss of appetite, nervous headache, and mental despondency, will find relief through the Plantation Bitters. They add tone to the stomach, and brilliancy to the mind, of which I, O people, am a living example."

DIED,

At Huntingdon, on Friday evening, 13th August, inst., Mr. Samuel Clement, a highly respectable citizen of this place, in the 81st year of his age.

The deceased was born in Philadelphia, and spent his early days in that city and on the sea. He removed with his family to Huntingdon about the year 1845, where he has since continued to reside. The death of a kind and affectionate wife, his companion for nearly forty years, a little over one year ago, was a shock from which he never recovered. Mr. C., many years ago became a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, while yet in Philadelphia, and ever since his removal to this place, has been a consistent member of St. John's Protestant Episcopal Parish, and an efficient member of its vestry. The funeral took place on Sunday the 15th Aug., inst., at 4 o'clock, from his late residence in the following order: After the reading of the beautiful funeral services appointed by the Church, his remains were escorted to the cemetery by the members of the Mount Moriah Lodge of Free Masons, and a large concourse of friends and neighbors.

At the grave the ceremonies were conducted wholly by the brethren of the masonic order. By many present the funeral rites and ceremonies of this ancient and honorable order were seen and heard for the first time. They are certainly grand, beautiful and impressive beyond conception, and in paying the last tribute of respect to the memory of their departed brother, they did not fail to present them in their most attractive form.

When the young and middle aged die, a feeling of sadness not easily suppressed will overshadow us. We weep, because to us who see through a glass darkly, the time of their departure seems too soon. How unlike this is it when the good old man, full of years, after having successively passed through the spring, summer and autumn of life, and attained to almost partriarchal age, is called hence to receive his reward. Like fruit fully ripe, he drops into the earth and is hid from our view, only to reappear in a form more majestic and beautiful among the first fruits of Heaven's immortal spring. Surely there is no cause of sadness in such a death, but much of joy. F. B. W.

Roads and Road Making.

We accept poor roads as one of the inevitable evils of life, and even call some of them good, or excellent, in comparison with those vastly poorer. The people of one town brag of roads that cost them three or four times what much better ones ought to cost, and are highly satisfied with their own, and the high road tax, too, when they go outside their town limits and see how much worse off other people are. Were we governed by a Louis Napoleon, Emperor, we would have excellent roads, for he would know very well that every dollar lost in the wear and tear of wagons and horse flesh upon poor highways, leaves just so much the less for him to draw from the people by taxation. He would know that it costs vastly more to keep roads in passable, or poor condition, than in first-rate order, having reference only to the outlay of money and labor upon the roads. Why is it that we can not learn the same facts? Why can we not see our own interests, every man's interests, as well as the head of a monarchical form of government can see his? The system of working the roads from end to end of the land to the other, so far as we are acquainted, is the most absurd that could be contrived. The township or the county officers set apart certain sums of money to be used for keeping the roads in order in certain districts, to each its allotment.—This money is to be apportioned among the taxpayers, and either "worked out" at a low rate of wages per day, or collected in money with other taxes, at the option of the tax-payer. The road tax is usually worked out. The road-master, or whatever else his title may be, is a resident of the district, and will rather follow the customary loose way of doing business, than see to it that his work is done in the best way, and with the least expenditure. He will accept for a day's work the labor of mere boys, or of old men, and will have some days not a single able-bodied man on his whole force, except himself and his hired man. The result is, where ten days' works are "worked out," three or four are done.

Besides, when spring work is pressing, or haying and harvesting absorb all the labor of the community, the road-master will do so unpopular a thing as to ward out his neighbors to work the roads. His own farm work presses besides. So he delays until autumn, after doing a few days' work in the early spring. The roads are plowed up; gravel and clay are scraped into the middle, "hog-backs" are made, to keep the water from running and washing in the middle of the road:—then comes frost, and all the new work remains soft and unsettled all the winter and spring, except when frozen solid. All this is easily obviated, and we may just as well have good roads as poor ones. Almost every township has a good young engineer and surveyor. Appoint him road-master for the town, give him a fair salary, one or two yokes of oxen, one or two pairs of horses, with carts, wagons, plows, scrapers, and small tools to match. Let him have money sufficient to hire eight or ten good men in summer, and perhaps four in winter. He should understand that his business is to study road making, read up on the subject, learn where the best materials are, break out of old ruts, and as soon as possible give the people good roads all over the township.—There would of course be first, second, and third class roads, according to their importance, and the amount of travel upon them.

Similar systems to the one suggested are pursued in many townships, and the result is invariably a great improvement in the roads, and after a little while, even at first, in some cases, a decided decrease in the cost. We know of some towns in which the road hands are not employed more than half their time, although they cut and prepare timber, make bridges, and do much extra work. Their services are, however, constantly in demand, and by digging cellars, moving buildings, laying cellar walls for houses, etc., making sidewalks in the village, putting down cement walks and floors on private grounds, and in many other ways they earn enough to pay a large part of the expenses of men and teams.—The road-master inspects all the roads once a month, especially after storms, and needed repairs, if promptly made, are slight and efficient.—American Agriculturist.

☞ An Irishwoman who had kept a little grocery shop was brought to her deathbed and was on the point of breathing her last, when she called her husband to her bedside—"Jamie," she said, "there's Missis Mulloney—she owes me six shillings." "Och!" exclaimed her husband; "Biddy, darlint, ye're sensible to the last!" "Yes, dear; an' there's Missus M'Graw—I owe her half a sovereign." "Och! be jabers, and ye're as foolish as ever!"

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

McGUIRE'S
SPANISH HAIR DRESSER
FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR,
And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries. No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of the Senoritas in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.
McGUIRE'S
Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion
For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing—When thus used it at once relieves headache.
McGUIRE'S
WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.
All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them. Warranted satisfactory or money refunded. Dealers will bear this in mind. Sold by all respectable Druggists in the United States and Canadas. Address orders to
